

What is written here is . . .

I'm sure you all already know this, but I will definitely do it.

I don't have enough money to buy anything.

I don't have even 100 yen, I'm running out of food, and my phone calls have been cut off.

Okay...

It's no different from the work I'm doing now,
but I'll do each step carefully, one by one.

- ① Free, high-quality, easy-to-use content
- ② Multiple free proposals approved by government ministries → significant impact on society
- ③ Adding works currently being performed...free previews
- ④ Professional-level free street performances everywhere...hoping for donations
- ⑤ And adding original compositions and releasing them for free

I check bankruptcy information every day.

It's only natural that everyone would choose "free, high-quality" content over the current situation...

By the way, don't selfishly assume that you have someone to rely on financially.
We've all experienced the sudden loss of ties due to money.

It's essential to shift your mindset to "I'll do it myself."
