

I wish you to overcome various obstacles

Even if everyone but you curses at you, if you don't like it, you can just withdraw into society,
go to the hospital,
survive by scavenging for scraps,
I'm one of them, but it's nothing unusual,
I'm also going to participate in this society where we abandon our pride, so it's not unfair,
A tenacious, forced reversal,
By the way, saying things like "it's past Prevention Week" is not acceptable.

Every company has valuable work processes like management positions (quality control, inventory control, production control, etc.), which allows for perfect work execution.
But nowadays, wouldn't "AI Equipment Management Technician" be better?
That's right, we just need to change the name of the job.

I'm going to start investigating everything that was unclear up until now.

*At my previous apartment,

I had to carry large used items (piano and sofa) home myself because I didn't have a car.

Van and trucks that were clearly empty in the cargo area drove past me without stopping after seeing me.

I would never do that, so I'm going to investigate the psychology of people who drive past like that.

If it were me, I would have regretted not speaking up for a long time afterward.

It varies from person to person, but I think I'm in the minority. In fact, on a different day, when I was carrying a sofa home myself, someone tied it to the roof of a van and helped me carry it home.

*An unfamiliar sight in court.

I wasn't an observer, so I'm going to investigate various things.

(Method)

Apply to the court records clerk to view the court hearing records and confirm the names of two legal apprentices on the list of attendees.

*During the preliminary bar examination:

A female security guard makes a hands-free microphone announcement at the entrance, stating it's an emergency.

Afterward, an older man is led away with his arm around his shoulder; this happened while he was seriously working on a problem → Confirmation only, as much as possible.

(Method)

I had a vague memory of seeing them, so rather than an investigation, I could only confirm their enrollment.

*Prioritizing personal information of the driver over errands → We will investigate.

(Method)

We will obtain images from security cameras that clearly show the vehicle registration number, and apply to the transportation bureau for a certificate of registration details, etc., due to the possibility of a crime.

We will investigate various other things as we remember.

There are many people who boast about changing society, but I imagine their statements come from having experienced what's on this cover.

The deposit required to run for the House of Representatives: 3 million yen

Whether or not I have this in my hands... it's only natural that Japan and the world would change completely.

Many people might think that minority parties can do as they please, but...

(Specific example)

Competitive bidding system → To the company that offers the lowest price

I can do everything myself,

For example, system modification work,

I would start by participating in the bidding with zero cost except for the raw materials and winning the bid

The 議員カフェ (parliamentary cafeteria) would be converted into an izakaya (Japanese pub) at night, and since there are no rules requiring meals to be held outside, I would instill the custom of having meals there,

From the smallest details, even in a sneaky way

Slowly and gradually, I would do everything myself

Also, at every point

Providing soup kitchens and free accommodation →

In a new community,

Creating a presence that strangers can rely on and get close to

For example, it could start with something as simple as providing free Wi-Fi or advice.

(Incidentally, the story behind this cover)

* Requested payment on October 1st for welfare benefits ➡ They said they could only wait until September 17th

* Consulted with the ward office ➡ They said to manage within the welfare benefits

This is what happens when you're just two months late on a payment...

In these times... I've reaffirmed that there are many other people like this

To ensure everyone can live a normal life... This determination remains unwavering

Even if incidents like the recent one by the river in Sapporo become more frequent...

I will definitely do it.
